Subject: but sometimes the worst problems just can't be planned for so while your ny city counterparts slam into an ego driven mudpile you might start by trying to understand the long standing animus between me and weil gotshal which led to the order of judge peck knocking out my prior claims since your conterparts have bet the ranch so to speak on this don't be surprised if they lose big time and become the laughing stock of the entire legal community...starting with the obvious...such as declaring under penalty of perjury that i had emailed the court... thanx
